Essential

Personal travel insurance

Travel insurance is mandatory for all clients who carry out activities. An excellent protective trip is offered to cover personal injury, death, medical expenses, repatriation expenses, helicopter rescue, and any illness included in the insurance package. Alpine Ramble strongly recommends that you purchase an insurance package through a reputable insurance company in your city or country.

Passport and visa

Each customer must have a passport with a validity period of 6 months at the Nepalese consulate in their country or Tribhuvan airport in Kathmandu.

A single entry visa that is valid for 15/30/90 day costs US $ 25/40/100. At Tribhuvan Airport in Kathmandu, the visa fees are paid in all major currencies. However, at land borders, officials must pay in cash (US dollars). Bring small bills. SAARC countries can obtain a 30-day visa upon arrival for free

Best season

You can visit Nepal all year round for this trip, but the best time of the year is spring (March to May) and fall (September to November). These months are the best time to travel. The weather is sunny and warm with excellent views of the countryside. If you want to avoid the crowds, this winter trip (December, January, and February) is also the best option.

Accommodation

We offer you a three-star deluxe hotel with breakfast. We book hotel accommodation according to your choice. Please let us know if you have any plans based on your preference. There are 4 star and 5-star hotels in Kathmandu. All accommodations for visiting Kathmandu Pokhara Chitwan are based on two single-bed sharing, which is included in travel expenses. We choose according to hygiene, service and food, location, etc. You will spend 3-star luxury accommodation in Kathmandu, Pokhara, and Nagarkot with breakfast and two nights in Chitwan National Park with full board (room, breakfast, lunch, and dinner). In general, we offer a buffet breakfast at the hotel. If you are travelling alone, you will be sharing a room with someone of the same gender as your group. If you prefer a single room, you will need to communicate before booking the tour for an additional fee.

Review

I booked Kathmandu Pokhara Chitwan tour with Nepal Tour & Trekking Service P. Ltd after reading the positive reviews about a company, and I must say I have no regrets. It was a family vacation, and we had a great time. It was fascinating to explore temples, stupas, and palace squares built in the middle Ages. We don't see this type of architecture where we come from. It was incredibly educational and eye-opening for our children who are still in elementary school. They loved the wildlife safari in Chitwan National Park. Our words cannot express the beauty of Pokhara city and its Nature. It was an unforgettable experience for all of us when we saw our first sunrise together as a Sarangkot. Thanks to all team for making our vacation so meaningful and memorable! We are also grateful to our knowledgeable guides, who were kind enough and sporty enough. We are already planning our next family vacation.

Review

I just got back from the trip of a lifetime, and I can't thank Kishor enough for making it happen. Kishor organized a fantastic 7 Nights 8 day days Nepal Tour for me and my friends that included a wonderful stay in and out of Kathmandu, a flight to Everest mountain, a short trek, and a visit Pokhara and a safari in Chitwan. The week went smoothly, including all air and car travel. I felt we were getting fantastic value for money and experienced some of the best deals in Nepal. Kishor was a pleasure working with, and he responded very well to all of our questions and concerns. We are hoping to make another trip near future.
